ROMANY MALCO Romany Malco is most widely recognized for his star-turning performance in the hit Universal film, The 40 Year Old Virgin. He received critical praise for his portrayal of "Jay", the streetwise, trash-talking womanizer who sets the tone for the film's antics. In 2007, Malco co-starred alongside Will Ferrell and Jon Heder in the Dreamworks feature Blades of Glory, which has since grossed over $145 million worldwide. He was most recently seen on the big screen in Universal's Baby Mama, written by and starring Tina Fey, as well as in Paramount's The Love Guru, opposite Mike Myers and Jessica Alba. Up next for Malco is the independent feature, Saint John of Las Vegas, starring Steve Buscemi and Sarah Silverman. Malco also starred opposite Mary Louise Parker and Elizabeth Perkins for three seasons in the Showtime series "Weeds" as "Conrad Shepard", with his performance earning him a NAACP Image Award nomination for Best Supporting Actor in a Comedy Series. The first American born into his West Indian family, Malco, Brooklyn bred, began his career at the age of seven, when he picked up a microphone and started rapping. As a teen, he moved to Texas and formed the rap group, R.M.G., and upon relocating to Los Angeles, CA, the crew signed a deal to Virgin Records. The groups name was changed to College Boyz and their first big hit, "Victim of the Ghetto" went to #1 on the rap charts. Malco currently resides in Los Angeles.
